The Wedding Planner – Example Turn

It's Month 5 and it's Jennifer's turn. Her meeple is currently on Plan. She has 3 vendors in hand and 8 coins.

1. Choose Action: At the start of her turn, Jennifer must move her meeple, so she cannot Plan again while it is already on Plan. She instead chooses the Book action and moves her meeple to Book on her player board.

2. Resolve Action: Jennifer books a 2-cost, 2-excitement Flowers & Decorations vendor (Nature + Tradition) from her hand, pays 2 coins, and places it in her grid.

- She advances her Nature and Tradition trackers by 1 each
- She advances her excitement tracker by 2
- She checks for completed Moments but sees no patterns completed

3. Bonus Action: The position she chose grants a Research bonus. Jennifer takes the Research action as a bonus (and does not move her meeple). She chooses to research from the Featured Vendor Row and takes 1 face-up vendor from the row that matches her theme and budget perfectly.

4. Hand Limit: Jennifer is now back to 3 vendors in hand (which is still under the 5-card limit). Her turn ends.

Designer Notes

The Wedding Planner began as a love letter to the wedding planning process: the overwhelming task lists, the hunt for the perfect vendors, the tension between vision and budget. After three years of brainstorming, design, development, and more than a hundred hours of playtesting, the game has evolved into a medium-weight euro that celebrates weddings in all their forms.

Special thanks to our play testers, whose feedback have shaped every system. To the couples who shared their wedding stories. To everyone who sees themselves in this game.

May your wedding, in cardboard or in life, be filled with joy, laughter, and love.
